INTRODUCTION.

It may not be improper to state that this Brief Genealogy of the Whipple family who settled in Rhode Island, has been the result of at least twenty-five years of inquiry and labor, and the travel of several hundred miles, amidst the cares and other duties of life.

Have visited the Genealogical and Historical Libraries at Boston, the Athenaeum and Mechanics' Libraries of Providence. Have visited many families, and copied from their records and had many pleasant interviews with aged and intelligent persons, from whom I have obtained much information. It was not my intention, when I first commenced searching for this record, to have published it, but finding many of the connections very much interested, as well as myself, I felt it a duty to publish what I had collected, so that they might know something of their ancestors and also what I had gathered might not be lost. This Genealogy, will, we presume, answer the questions which have been asked by many earnest enquirers, in every family circle, who inherit the name, "Who was the first Whipple and where did he settle?" A question, we believe, that has never been answered by any published genealogy, showing the origin of the families that settled in R. I., before this. A more extensive, and perhaps a more acceptable genealogy might be gathered and published than this, could a person have the time to devote to it, and the patience to endure so laborious a task. Now, trusting that what I here present, will, in some measure, be satisfactory, I hope it may be found worthy of being preserved and handed down to future generations. If so, the author will regard his exertions as not without reward.

ERRATA.

Since the publication of this Geneaogy the author, by further inquiry has found some mistakes made by copying from records which were incorrect.

David Whipple, mentioned on page 5 also on page 59, (Second Part) was not brother to John and Matthew who settled at Ipswich, Mass., as supposed on page 5. He was the son or John who settled at Providence, R. I. (See page 38.) He married Hannah Tower.

The statement on page 49 that David Whipple had a son Jeremiah, born 1655. who married a Shippee, is not correct. He had no son born at that date. He had a son Jeremiah born 1684, who married a Shippee.

Samuel Whipple, mentioned on page 55, (Second Part) was son of John Whipple, No. 1. His Wife's name was Mary as mentioned in his will on page 56. He had two sons, Samuel and Thomas, and two daughters, Abigail and Hope. The family recorded on page 13 as his, is the family of his son Samuel who married Elizabeth Eddy. He settled near Stonington, Connecticut.

John Whipple, page 51, born 1716, was son of William Whipple, son of David Whipple who married Hannah Tower.

William Whipple, page 58, was not the son of David, No. 7, as there recorded. It is not yet known who his father was.

GENEALOGY.

HISTORY.

WE learn that, among the first settlers of New England, there were several by the name of Whipple. There were Matthew and John, two brothers, who settled at Ipswich, Mass., about the year 1635, whose genealogy was published by Oliver M. Whipple, of Lowell, one of their descendants, in 1857.

There were also John, Samuel, David and Elezer, who settled in Rhode Island. John and Samuel settled at Providence town. David settled in the town of Cumberland,* and was perhaps brother to Matthew and John, who settled at Ipswich. Some of the descendants of David, are living in that town and vicinity. Elezer settled at Warwick, and his descendants are called the Warwick Whipples.

I have not been able to learn that these four that settled in Rhode Island were any related to each other. The descendants from these six families, can be found in all the New England and many of the Western States, and in some localities are quite numerous. It is stated in Mr James Savages' Genealogical Dictionary, which gives a record of the first, second, and third generations of the first settlers of New England, that John Whipple who settled at Providence, is called John Providence and John Whipple who settled at Ipswich, is called John Ipswich, to distinguish one from the other.

EXPLANATION.

It will be seen that this genealogy is divided into two Parts—Part First and Part Second.

Part First is the genealogy of the male descendants of John Whipple, the first of this name who settled in New England, and the first who settled in Rhode Island. The male members of his descendants are all numbered, so that any one can trace out their pedigree, or line of descent.

FOR EXAMPLE.

Benjamin Whipple, No. 24, was son of Benjamin Whipple No. 20. who was son of Benj. Whipple, No. 6, and he was the son of John Whipple, the first, who settled at Providence town in 1659.

Part Second will give a brief account of Samuel, David and Elezer that settled in Rhode Island.

PART FIRST.

THE GENEALOGY OF CAPT. JOHN WHIPPLE, [WHO SETTLED AT PROVIDENCE, R. I.,] FOR OVER TWO HUNDRED AND FORTY YEARS.

John Whipple, No. 1, one of the early settlers at Providence, Rhode Island, was born in England about the year 1616 or 17, and died May 16th. 1685; aged about 68 years.

What part of England he came from is not known. History states, that in 1630, (or there about) there were about fifteen hundred persons landed in Boston from England and it is very dent that he came about that time.

Savage's Genealogical Dictionary, states that John (Providence) Whipple, was in Dorchester as early as 1632, in service to Israel Stoughton; and was then, perhaps, not over fifteen years of age. He received a grant of land at Dorchester Neck, in 1637.

He married his wife, Sarah, at Dorchester, about the year 1639—40. His wife was born at Dorchester, about the year 1624, and died at Providence town, 1666; aged about 42 years. She could not have been over sixteen years of age when married. What her name was beside Sarah, we have no knowledge. Mr. Whipple and his wife, united with a church at Dorchester, in 1641. He was a house carpenter by trade, and owned a house, and forty or fifty acres of land, near (what is now called) Neponset village. He lived at Dorchester about eighteen years, and during this time there were born unto him six sons and two daughters.

He sold his house and land to James Minot in 1658, and then removed to Rhode Island the same year, or the year after, and settled at Providence, with all his family; and received appropriation July 29th., 1659. He had two sons and one daughter born at Providence, having in all eleven children; eight sons and three daughters.

The house in which he lived and died, was built most likely by himself, as he was a carpenter by trade. The house stood on the east side of the river, a little north of Star street, between North Main, and (what is now) Benefit street. Mr. Dexter Thurber, (a very worthy gentleman, and citizen of Providence, who is now (1871) in the nintieth year of his age,) says this house was standing when he was a boy. It was a large two-story house, having a large stone chimney at one end, and on the west side of the house there were steps leading up to it from North Main Street. This house was standing as late as about 70 years ago, according as stated by some other of the oldest inhabitants, now living at this date; and was called the John Whipple house. He received a grant of and in 1660, at Louisquisset. (See page 12.)

He also owned land in several other places as is mentioned in his will. In 1666 he took the oath of allegiance to King Charles the second, with his oldest son, John. He was a member of the town council of Providence in 1669. (See "Annals of Providence," page 664.) He received a license to keep a public house in 1674 ; at which place the town elections were sometimes held. (See Providence Records.) In the year 1675 John Whipple was one among about twenty five others who voted at a town meeting, to stay at Providence instead of going Newport, in the time of King Phillip's war, as it was a safer place. The most of the inhabitants of the town, vailed themselves of the offer made to them by their friends at Newport, and the town was nearly deserted. In about one year from this time, in 1676, the town of Providence was attacked by the Indians. Many houses were burnt, and much damage done to those who stayed at Providence. It is evident that Mr. Whipple had to bear his part of the calamity, with the rest. Mr. Whipple lived in Providence about twenty six years from the time he first came in 1658 or 9, up to the time of his death. During all of this period he experienced many hardships and privations, such as attend the first settlers of a new country. But among the many losses he had to meet, there could be none greater than the loss of his wife, who died in 1666, after living only about seven years with him, after they first came to Providence, leaving in his care a family of several small children, the youngest probably an infant. Mr. Whipple died May 16th, 1685. He and his wife were buried near his house, in a garden lot. But after several years they, and several others of his family were taken up and buried at the North Burying Place, and their tombstones can be seen there at this date, (1873.)

The following inscriptions are on the tombstones of Capt. John Whipple and his wife, in the North Burying Place in Providence, R. I.

The WILL of Capt. John Whipple. Sen.

Be it known unto all persons to whom this may come, that I, JOHN WHIPPLE, of the town of Providence, in the Colony of R. I. and Providence Plantations, in New England, (Sen.) being in good measure of health, and in perfect memory, upon consideration of mortality, not knowing the day of my death, and having many children, and to prevent difference that otherwise may hereafter arise among them concerning my worldly estate, do see cause to make my will: and do hereby dispose of all my estate in this world, and do make my last Will and Testament.

I having formerly given unto three of my sons, all of my lands and meadows in Louquisset, namely,—Samuel, Eleazer, and William, equally to be divided among them three only; excepting thirty acres which I gave unto my son John, at the North West End.

I give unto my three aforesaid sons, namely; Samuel, Elezer and William, each of them, a quarter part of one right of Common, for pasturing, cutting of timber, and fire-wood.

I give unto my son Benjamin, a right of land in the late division which is already made out unto him.

I give unto my son David, a right of land, in the late division which is already made out unto him.

I give unto my son Jonathan, twenty-five acres, on which he now dwelleth. Also, I give unto my son Jonathan, one division of land which is ordered by the town to be laid out between the "seven mile line" and the "four mile line" and papers already drawn for.

I give unto my son Joseph, my dwelling house, and my three house-lots, and the garden next: also a six acre lot lying on the southern side of the neck whereupon the town of Providence standeth: also twenty acres near Thomas Clemons, his dwelling: also I give unto my son Joseph my share of meadow near Solitary Hill, and two six acre lots, lying on each side of said Hill: also a six acre lot, near William Wickenden formerly dwelt: also one division lying on the "seven mile line" which is already ordered by the town, and papers drawn for: also I give unto my son Joseph, all other divisions which shall hereafter belong unto two rights throughout.

I give unto my sons, namely, John, Samuel, Elezer, William, Benjamin, David and Jonathan, these seven, twelve pence every one of them.

I give unto my three daughters, namely—Sarah, Mary and Abigail, unto every one of them ten shillings. I give unto my son Joseph, all my right of land in the Narragansett country. I give unto my son Joseph, all my movable goods, of what sort soever, and all my cattle, and all my tools; also I do make my son Joseph, my executor: also my will is that my son Joseph do see that I be decently buried: this being the real absolute Will and Testament of the John Whipple Sen. as aforesaid, I do hereunto set my hand and seal, this eighth day of May, in the year one thousand six hundred and eighty two.

THE SEVEN MILE LINE.

The seven mile line is the easterly line of the town of Scituate, Gloucester, and Burrilville, and westerly line of the towns of Cranston, Johnston and Smithfield, beginning at South East corner of the town of Scituate and from thence running a northerly course to the line of Massachusetts: and is said to be seven miles west of Fox Point: and is called the Seven Mile Line.

Louisquisset or Louquisset is an Indian name of a place or brook in the town of Smithfield, about four miles West from Pawtucket, and easterly from the Lime Rock village. (See Annals of Providence Page 566.

I, THOMAS ARNOLD, and JOHN ARNOLD, the 27th day of May, in the year of 1685, did upon these solemn engagements declare that they are witnesses unto the above will, and as these names are there written they do own it to be their hand.

SHADRACK MANTON, the 27th. day of May, in the year 1685, did in the presence of the Magistrates and the rest of the Council, full and truly declare that he is witness to the above Will, and that he with his own hand wrote his name thereunto, as,

Attest—

ARTHUR FENNER, Assistant.

JOSEPH WHIPPLE did upon the 27th day of May, 1685, in the presence of the Council, as he is Executor to the Testator, upon his solemn engagement testify and declare that this is the last Will and Testament of his deceased father as ever yet perfected as he knoweth of; and that he, when he made it, was of sound mind, and of a good memory.—

Taken before us, { ARTHUR FENNER, } Assistants.
 { JOSEPH JENCKS, }

On the back side of this said Will, it is endorsed as follows:— Thomas Olney, Town Clerk of Providence, in the Colony of Rhode Island, and Providence Plantations, in New England, aged 53 years or therabouts, testifieth that on the sixteenth day of this instant (May) John Whipple [Sen.,] of the aforesaid town of Providence, sent for to speak with him.

This deponent saith he immediately went to him. The said John Whipple [Sen.] then showed him this paper, and the writing which on the o her side of this said paper is written, desiring this deponent to peruse it. This deponent saith he did well peruse it; and having well perused it, he asked the said John Whipple what his mind was concerning the land which he in the said writing had disposed of to his several sons; whether or no he did intend by that writing or Will that the said land should be unto his said sons, their heirs and assigns forever; or only unto his said sons for term of life? He immediately made this answer. That however it was not worded in the said writing, yet his mind and will was that his sons, each one of them, should have said house and rights which he in the said writing unto each one of them had disposed, to be unto them, their heirs and assigns forever, to dispose the same or any part thereof, at any time as they see cause; and that the same was omitted to be inserted.

That his son Jonathan should have one of his rights of land and common, on the west side of the "seven mile line," to be unto him, his heirs, and assigns forever; and that that was his mind when the said Will was written. However it was omitted in part by the scribe of the said Will. There was an exception made only of thirty acres of land to be his son John's, by him formerly given. That he owned to be a mistake; and that the exception must be of sixty acres, which formerly by deed of gift he had given to his son John Whipple; and all the remainder of his said farm lying about Louquiset should be divided equally between his said three sons, [namely] Samuel, Elezer, and William. This, saith this deponent, is truth; and he took it immediately from the said John Whipple's mouth and worded it down. And also that whereas the said Will expresseth a quarter part of a right of common to each of his three sons, [namely] Samuel, Elezer and William; he said his meaning: was and will, that it should be so far westward as the "seven mile line," and no farther. And that the said John Whipple was then, when he did declare this, of a sound mind and perfect memory.

May 27th., 1685.

Upon oath taken before us,—

ARTHUR FENNER, Assistant.
JOSEPH JENCKS, "

The Will on the other side of this paper was at our Council Meeting, May 27th 1685, by us, the Town Council of Providence examined, and is by us, the said Council approved;

JABEZ WHIPPLE.

Capt. JABEZ WHIPPLE No 35, son of John Whipple, No. ²²~~32~~, of Prov., was born at Prov. Mar. 9th. 1738. This man was a sea-captain and followed the seas for many years. And when at home resided at Providence. He was a great friend of Gov. James Fenner of Prov.

He died Dec. 4th. 1833, aged 99 years, 3 months and 9 days.

The following story is told of him by Samuel Thurber of Prov., which can be found in the "Annals of Prov.," page 604. "Capt. Jabez Whipple, who lately died in his one hundredth year, told me when a young man, he with several others kept a pack of hounds, with which they would at times divert themselves in a fox-chase. At one time they followed one most all day. At evening they holed him, then made a fire at the mouth of the hole in order to keep him in during the night. They came with tools for digging and found him suffocated, as they supposed. They took him out, handed him from one to the other, with every appearance of being dead. So they threw him on the ground, when he instantly took to his toes and gave them another day's chase.

Capt. Jabez Whipple had five wives.

His first wife, Zilpha, was born Oct. 30th. 1738, and died in 1767, aged 29 years.

Second wife, Mary M. Brown, was born Aug. 18th. 1736, and died 1777, aged 41 years.

Third wife, Anna, born Apr, 28th. 1750, died 1782, aged 32 years.

Fourth wife, Elizabeth, was born Sept. 2nd. 1758, died 1791, aged 33 years.

He was buried in the North Burying Place in Providence. He married Alice Smith of Providence, May 20th, 1684. She was born at Providence in 1654, and died in 1737 aged 75 years. He took the oath of allegiance to King Charles the Second, in May 1682, with his brother Jonathan. He was Colonel of the Providence Militia, which gave him the name of Colonel Joseph. He was one of the Town Councilmen of Providence, for twelve years; most of the time from 1715 to 1729; and Representative to the General Assembly for nineteen years, within the time from 1698 to 1728. In 1723, he gave one hundred pounds towards building an Episcopal Church on North Main street, in Providence, it being the largest amount given by any one of those who contributed for its erection. He gave the use of a lot of land at the north end of Benefit street to build a school house on, and it was called Whipple Hall. It appears that Mr. Whipple took a great interest in the the town and State affairs, for their growth, education and prosperity. And it is safe to conclude that he was a very popular man and much respected by his townsmen.

JOHN WHIPPLE.

JOHN WHIPPLE, No. 171, (son of Colonel Joseph Whipple No. 8, the seventh son of Captain John Whipple, who settled at the town of Providence,) was born at Providence, May 28th, 1685. Moses Brown says he was a noted bone setter and amilitary captain. He lived nearly opposite Thurber's shop on North Main street, Providence, probably in the same house where his grandfather first settled. In his life time he gave the Episcopal Church their Burial Ground, He died in 1769 aged 84 years. I have found nothing of his family except what is mentioned by Moses Brown, who said he had a son Joseph.

JOSEPH WHIPPLE.

JOSEPH WHIPPLE, (son of John Whipple No. 171, the noted bone setter,) was born in 1734. He was educated at Cambridge College, and then settled on a farm in Smithfield, R. I. He married Sarah Mowry. He died in 1816, aged 82 years. His wife died April 20th, 1820, aged 85 years.

JOSEPH WHIPPLE.

JOSEPH WHIPPLE No. 173 (son of Colonel Joseph Whipple No. 8, of Providence,) was born at Providence, Dec. 30th, 1687. He settled at Newport, R. I. He married Sarah Redwood and had one daughter, who married a Temple. He was Deputy Governor of Rhode Island in 1743-44-46-51, until Nov. 2d; he then resigned his office of Deputy Governor on account of becoming insolvent. He was extensively concerned in the mercantile operation, and the ruinous system of paper money was working its ruinous results. Among the victims of the crash that had now come upon the colony, was Mr. Whipple. He surrendered all his property to the use of his creditors, and received the benefit of a special act of insolvency. The terms of his petition are pathetic; such, as under the circumstances and in an age when failures were almost unknown to an honest and honorable man in his position might well employ. When the next Assembly met at South Kingstown, Nov. 2d, 1751, Mr. Whipple resigned his office as Deputy Governor.

(The foregoing was taken from the history of Rhode Island.

WILLIAM WHIPPLE.

WILLIAM WHIPPLE, No. 176, (son of Joseph Whipple of Smithfield) was born 1750. He lived in Smithfield and was a farmer. He was a soldier in the American Revolution of 1776. He died May 11th, 1827, aged 36 years. He had several daughters.

GENERAL JOHN WHIPPLE.

GENERAL JOHN WHIPPLE No. 177, (son of Joseph Whipple of Smithfield,) was born in 1755, and died in 1811, aged 56 years. He was a merchant and resided in Providence, and kept a dry goods store on North Main street. He was a very smart, active man, and a great lover of fishing and hunting, and it was said he was the best marksman of any in his day. His wife's name was Naomi. She died in 1832, aged 82 years. They had no children.

JOHN WHIPPLE.

JOHN WHIPPLE, No. 181, (son of Samuel Whipple, No. 178, of Providence,) was born in Providence October 22d, 1784; and died October 19th, 1866, aged 82 years. He resided in the city of Providence. He was prepared for College in the schools of his native town, and after graduating went with President Maxcy to Schenectady, New York, where he spent a year in the study of law in the office Henry Yates. His father being a personal friend of Dr. Maxcy, desired his son to continue under the care of his college teacher. He completed his professional studies in Providence with Hon. Samuel W. Bridgham, B. U., 1794, and was admitted to the Rhode Island bar in 1805. Rising rapidly he very early in life gained a distinguished reputation especially as an eloquent advocate. His mind was eminently fitted for forensic oratory, and his career at the bar was nearly coeval with the rise of the great manufacturing interests of Rhode Island. In the new litigation respecting water privileges to which these gave rise he bore a very prominent part, and was engaged on one side or the other along with the most eminent counsel of New England in nearly every important suit relating to them, many of which were finally decided only by the Supreme Court of the United States. He was also frequently employed by the manufacturers of Rhode Island to represent their interests before committees of Congress. Though intimately associated with men in public life in Washington, and also largely conversant with the inner machinery of national affairs, he always manifested an aversion to public station. He regarded it, or perhaps the means by which it is attained, as in some sense incompatible with that personal independence which he prized most highly. He often represented the people of Providence in the General Assembly; but though repeatedly urged he was never willing to be a candidate for political office. He once received the nomination of the whig party in the Legislature for the Senate of the United States, but was not elected; a result with which he always professed himself to be entirely satisfied. His mind was comprehensive and vigorous, clear in its perceptions and firm in its grasp of every subject to which it was directed; and his oratory was singularly persuasive. He wielded extraordinary power over assemblies of people and several of the speeches which he delivered to the assembled citizens on important public questions have become historic in the annals of the State. He continued in the professional practice in the courts of the State and the United States forty-five years, and retired from the bar in 1850. Mr. Whipple wrote frequently and with great force, for the press on the public questions of the times. Several of his arguments in the Supreme Court of the United States, and also of his political addresses, have been published; and those with a Fourth of July oration delivered in 1838, a discourse on the life and services of Mr. Webster, and a pamphlet on the laws of usury in reply to Jeremy Bentham, are the only publications that bear his name. He spent the last four or five years of his life at his country residence in Warwick. He received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws in 1844, a well merited recognition of his eminent forensic abilities and fame. He married in 1809 Maria, daughter of Dr. William Bowen, of Providence, who died in 1836; and in 1839, Ellen DeWolf, daughter of Jotham Post, of New York.

*Jonathan Whipple bought land of James Dexter in 1701, which is described in the deed as laying about one and a half miles Northerly from the salt water or town harbor, bounded on south and west sides, by the river called the West river, and on the north by his own lands, which evidently was the land that was given to him by his father, by will, where he then lived. (See will of John Whipple the first.) Jonathan Whipple at his decease gave his land or farm to two sons, viz: Jonathan and Thomas, to be equally divided between them. (See Providence Records.) This farm or land is situated in what is now the town of North Providence, a little north of the Waunscoot factory, and has been retained in the name ever since the first settlement of the country. At this place there has been four Thomas Whipples lived in succession, and it has always been understood by them that they were a distant connection to those Whipples who live at Fruit Hill.

THOMAS WHIPPLE.

THOMAS WHIPPLE No. 190, (son of Jonathan Whipple No. 9,) was born February 26th, 1694. He lived on a part of the homestead farm given him by his father by Will, as before mentioned. He married Naomi Dexter, the daughter of John Dexter. They had a son Thomas which is Thomas the second.

*The reason for stating that William Whipple was the son of David Whipple, No. 7, is a conclusion drawn from the following facts: His descendants claim no connection to David Whipple who settled in Cumberland, on the Blackstone farm. At the time that this William Whipple's first child was born in (1715,) there was but two William Whipples in the Colony of Rhode Island, viz: William Whipple No. 5, son of John (No. 1.) and William Whipple, No. (170,) son of David No. 7. William Whipple, son of John was too far advanced in age to be married at that date, and have a family the oldest born 1715. There is no record or evidence that he was ever married or had a family. From these facts we are forced to conclude that William Whipple, the father of the large family, was the son of David No 7, as above stated.

In my researches and inquires after the Whipple genealogy I have found several families whom I have not been able to learn of which families of Whipples, that settled in R. I., they decended from. But according to the best evidence they were the descendants of Capt. John Whipple who settled at Providence R. I. in 1658 or 9. The following is the record of them as it is given to me from a reliable source.

JOHN WHIPPLE.

JOHN WHIPPLE. was born in 1716. He lived in the town of Smithfield R. I., I learn from some of his descendants that they were none related to David Whipple, who settled on the Blackstone farm. (See David Whipple in Part Second.) His wife's name was Sarah, born 1720. His family was—

WELCOME WHIPPLE, (son of John Whipple who was born Feb. 22nd 1748,) was born Feb. 12th 1772. He lived in Smithfield R. I., He married Amy Whipple of Cumberland in 1796. His family was—

CULLIN WHIPPLE.

CULLIN WHIPPLE, (son of Welcome Whipple) was born Sept. 4th 1801. He married for his first wife Philinda Sprague, who died 1842; for second wife Mary A. Viall of Johnston R. I. He resided in the city of Providence; and was a machinist by trade; and a great mechanical inventor. To him the American Screw Co. are indebted for many of their vaulable machines for making screws. He died Oct. 23-1858 aged 67 years.

ABRAHAM WHIPPLE

Com. ABRAHAM WHIPPLE, was born Sept. 26 1733, at Providence R. I. Who his father was, I have not been able to learn. He married Sarah Hopkins, sister to Gov. Stephen, and Com. Eseck Hopkins. He had two daughters : one married Col. E. Sprout. and the other married Dr. Comstock of Smithfield. He went to sea at a very early age, and when a young man he was appointed Captain of a merchant vessel in the West India trade. In the old French war he made himself very conspicuous as a bold active privateer. He took an early stand against the encroachments of the British Government upon the provincial rights ; and in 1775 was appointed Commodore, and had the command of two armed vessels, fitted out by Rhode Island. During the Revolutionary War he was a brave officer, and distinguished himself in performing many bold and daring deeds. His portrait as Commodore, in full uniform, can be seen in one of the rooms of the R. I. Historical Society at Providence. After the war was over he settled in the town of Cranston R. I. near A. & W. Sprague's Print Works. At this place he resided until 1796. when he and the rest of his family joined an emigration company and removed to the state of Ohio and settled near Marietta, and followed farming the rest of his day. He died May 29th 1809 aged 85 years.

SAMUEL WHIPPLE.

*SAMUEL WHIPPLE, Sen., one of the early settlers of Providence town was, most probably an Englishman by birth, as the name is an English name. At what time he came to this country is not known. It appears by his Will that he was a man of considerable wealth, and had several children. It is probable that he brought all of his family with him when he came to this country. His oldest son, Samuel, was called an alien in some business transaction in the town where he settled. Samuel Whipple, Sen.. died in a house on Abbot's Lane, near North Main street, in Providence. The house is called the Abbot house, which is now standing at this date, (1873.) He died March 12th, 1710, aged 67 years, and was the first that was buried in the North Burying place in Providence. Mr. Samuel Whipple's wife, Mary, died December 14th, 1722, aged 83 years, and was buried at the same place with her husband; also his two daughter, Abigail and Hope who were the first and second wives of Robert Curry, who is buried at their side.

WILL OF SAMUEL WHIPPLE.

I, Samuel Whipple, of the town of Providence, in the Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, in Narragansett Bay, in New England, being sick and weak of body, but yet (through mercy)

*The grave of Samuel Whipple was dug by Epinetus Ballou, when a young man at the age of about 18 years. This was told to Mr. Dexter Thurber, of Providence, by a man by the name of Ballou, who was then an old man. He said he well recollected of hearing his father, (Epinetus Ballou,) say that he dug the first grave at the North Burying Place. He went and showed the grave to Mr. Thurber, who soon after placed a marble slab, at his own expense, on this grave and had engraved thereon to show that he was the first buried at the North Burial Place, Providence.

of sound and perfect memory. Do make ordain and appoint this to be my last will and testament, revoking, making null and void all and every form of will at any time by me made either by word or writing; and this will only, to stand and be in force.

Imprimis. I do give and yield up my spirit unto God who gave it, and my body to the earth to be decently buried.

Item. I do give and devise unto my two sons, (as namely) Samuel Whipple and Thomas Whipple, my hundred and fifty acres of land being on the west side of the seven mile line in said Providence Township, together with the right or to say share of meadows unto the said hundred and fifty acres of land belonging, as also one-quarter part of a right of commons, on the west side of the said line, to be equally divided between them two, and to be unto them, their heirs, and assigns forever.

Item. I do give and devise unto my two sons, (as namely) Samuel and Thomas, my share of meadow which I bought of James Allison, lying and beginning in the great meadow, (so called,) and my twenty acres of land, being by the pond called Broad Pond; and my seven acres of land lying by the Southeastern part of the hill called the Windmill Hill, to be equally divided; and also to each of them one right in the thatch beds; all to be unto them, their heirs and assigns forever.

Item. I do give and devise unto my son Thomas, my seven acres of land being in that tract of land called the Neck, and is between a swamp called the Great Swamp, and the land which did belong to Mr. Dexter, to be unto my said son, his heirs, and assigns forever. And I do also, give and devise unto my son Thomas, for and during the term of his natural life, my warehouse lot of land, being in said Providence Town by the water; and after his decease the said warehouse lot of land to revert and be unto his male heir begotten of his body, and so successively be.

Item. I do give and bequeath unto my son Thomas, and unto my grandson Noah Whipple, I do give and devise all my commons on the east side of the seven mile line in said Providence Township equally to be divided between them to be unto them, their heirs and assigns forever.

Item. I do give and devise unto my son Thomas, all my land on which he now dwells, which lieth on both sides of the river called Moshassuc river, upland meadow, and swampy land, together with the house thereon, to be unto him, his heirs, and assigns forever.

Item. I do give and devise unto my two grandsons, (as namely,) Enoch and Daniel Whipple, three-quarters of all my land and commons on the west side of the seven mile line, in said Providence Township, which is not yet laid out, to be equally divided between them two, to be unto them, their heirs, and assigns forever.

Item. My homestead, or to say my dwelling and out-housing, with all my land and orchard thereunto adjoining, reaching from the town street and extending eastward to the land which belonged to the deceased Daniel Brown:

Item. I give and bequeath unto my beloved wife, Mary Whipple, to be for her use and improvement for and during the whole term of her natural life, and at her decease, the said dwelling house, out-housing, and all the land and orchard, to revert to my two daughters, (namely) Abigail and Hope Whipple, and after their decease to revert and be unto their heirs, begotten of their bodies; the which said house, land and orchard, with what out-housing thereon, shall be equally divided between my said two daughters. But in case it shall be that my said two daughters neither of them have any children, then shall the said house and land be equally divided amongst all my grandchildren. But if either of them have children or a child shall have the said land revert and be to that daughter heir.

Item. I give and bequeath unto my two daughters, (namely,) Abigail and Hope Whipple, each of them a bed and bedding, and all the furniture to a bed belonging to, each of them to receive the same at my said wife her decease; and I do give also unto my two said daughters, each of them, a cow; to receive them also at my said wife her decease.

Item. I do give and bequeath unto my said loving wife, for her use and improvement, all my goods and chattels during her natural life, and at her decease to be unto my two sons, Samuel and Thomas be equally divided except what I have before disposed of. And I do make and appoint my son Samuel Whipple to be executor of this my last will and testament, to receive all my debts and to pay all my debts; to see my body decently buried, and to execute and perform this my will according to the true meaning and intent thereof. I have hereunto set my and hand seal, the ninth day of March, Anno Domini one thousand seven hundred and ten. (1710.)

Signed, Sealed and proclaimed in the presence of us,

JOHN SAYLES,
HENRY ADAMS.
JAMES OLNEY.

At a Town Council Meeting the above written Will, was by the Council proved.

JAMES OLNEY, Clerk.

Recorded in Providence, fourth Council Book, April 3d, 1711, by Thomas Olney, Clerk.

SAMUEL WHIPPLE.

SAMUEL WHIPPLE, (son of Samuel Whipple of Providence, who died in 1710,) was born about the year 1669, and died April 17th, 1728, in his sixtieth year of age. He settled in Connecticut, in the town of Groton. He was an iron manufacturer by trade. He married ———. Their children were Daniel, Samuel 3d, Zephaniah, Zachariah, Alice, Eliza and Hope.

Samuel Whipple 3d, had two sons, namely, Samuel 4th, and Timothy.

Samuel 4th had five sons, namely, Noah, Isaac, Jonathan, Joseph and Ezra.

Noah, (son of Samuel 4th,) had four sons, namely, Samuel 5th, Jonathan, Noah and Silas.

Samuel 5th had five sons and two daughters.

Samuel 6th, (son of Samuel 5th,) had three brothers, Noah, Jonathan and Jabez. Samuel 6th married Harriet Cushman. Her mother before marriage, was a Rogers; a descendant of John Rogers, who was burnt at the stake in London, England, February 4th, 1555. The children of Samuel 6th, were Samuel, Harriet, Paul. Delight, John Rogers, Joddathen, Daniel and Maria. The foregoing brief account of Samuel Whipple who settled at Groton, Conn., is from the pen of Henry J. Gallup, Esq.

THOMAS WHIPPLE.

THOMAS WHIPPLE, (son of Samuel Whipple, of Providence, who died in 1710, and brother of Samuel who settled in Connecticut,) lived as appears by his father's Will at or near Providence town. He had three sons, namely, Enoch, Daniel and Noah. Enoch and Daniel settled in the town of Glocester, west of the "seven mile line," probably on land given to them by their grandfather as mentioned in his Will. Daniel was born about 1708-9, and died in 1790. He was married twice. His first wife was Mary Smith, and second, was widow Hawkins. By his first wife he had two sons, namely, Enoch and Jonathan, and six daughters. His daughter Mercy married a Mr. Sayles. Sarah married a Mr. Lapham. Mary married a Mr. Blackmore. Abigail married a Mr. Winsor. Amy married a Mr. Brown. Hope married a Mr. Wilmarth.

JONATHAN WHIPPLE.

JONATHAN WHIPPLE, (son of Daniel Whipple,) married the daughter of his step-mother, (widow Hawkins.) They had two sons, Daniel and Stephen. Stephen had a son Ziba, and a daughter Nancy, who married a Smith. Daniel brother of Stephen, had two daughters; one married a Mr. Paine, the other, Ephriam Youngs.

ZIBA WHIPPLE.

ZIBA WHIPPLE, (son of Stephen,) resided in Glocester; was a farmer and manufacturer. He owned the farm that had been retained in the name since the first settlement of the country. He married Mary Sayles. His family is—Daniel S., Phebe, Sterry. Enoch resides at Woonsocket. John resides in Burrillville. James resides in Vermont. George, Charles H. resides in Providence.

DAVID WHIPPLE, of Cumberland,

WILLIAM BLACKSTONE; one of the first settlers of Rhode Island, owned land in Smithfield or Cumberland. On this land was a hill, on which he erected his study. This hill he named Study Hill; which is the name it still bears. The "Hill" fell to his only son, at his father's death. This son gave a deed of Study Hill, to David Whipple in 1692. This original deed is now in a society in Providence, R. I. David Whipple was advanced in years when he bought the hill; how old he was is not known. From him it descended to his son Jeremiah, who was born in 1655. He married a Miss Shippee. He died in 1720, aged 66 years. From him it descended to his son Jeremiah, born in 1684. He married Deborah Bucklin. He died 1760, aged 76 years. From him it fell to his son Jeremiah, who died in 1800, aged 82 years. He married Hannah Bowen. From him it went to his son Jeremiah, born in 1749. He married Nancy Dexter. He died 1819, aged 70 years. From him it descended to his son Jeremiah, who was born in 1802, and married Sarah Smith. He died in 1852, aged 50 years. From him it fell to his son Jeremiah, born in 1838, and died in 1871. The foregoing account of David Whipple, of Cumberland, was taken from 'Whipple Genealogy, published in 1857, by Oliver M. Whipple, except the death of the last Jeremiah, who died in 1871.

WARWICK WHIPPLES, OR DESCENDANTS OF

ELEAZER WHIPPLE.

ELEAZER WHIPPLE was the first of this name that settled

Warwick R. I. ; He was born in England. At what time he came to this country is not known. He owned a large track of land a little south of Pawtuxet village, in Warwick R. I., His house where he lived is standing at this date, (1871.) At this place he resided, when at home with his family, but as he was a sea-captain, was away a good part of the time. He was also engaged in the mercantile business. He died at sea, about 1761. He married a Miss. Rhodes of Pawtuxet.
